

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatch to The N. Y. Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Friday, Jan. 5, 1866.

CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD.

There has just been prepared for the signature of the President a patent for some 45,000 acres, selected under the Acts of Congress of 1862 and 1864, along the line of the first section of the Central Pacific Railroad, being that part which has been finished, duly equipped, and put in complete running order. The patent or grant is elegantly embellished with the coat of arms of the United States, surrounded by the symbols of agriculture and commerce, and is accompanied by a map of the Union, exhibiting every State and Territory, and the line of route for the Central and Union Pacific, as well as the proposed line of route for the Northern Pacific.

THE KANSAS PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The question of the issue of the Government bonds to the Kansas branch of the Pacific Road, so long pending before the Treasury Department, has just been decided, and has important effect upon a large class of claimants. The parties holding construction bonds and claiming their conversion into Government bonds fail to get them. The law adviser of the Treasury Department deciding that the bonds cannot be issued only to the railway company under the law, which does not relieve the railway company from the obligation to convert them; deciding at the same time that no injustice is thereby done the holders of either construction or land grant bonds, as they are fully protected, because the company cannot issue any first mortgage bonds under the act of 1864, until all these outstanding bonds are retired.

VALUE OF NAVAL CAPTURES.

The total amount of naval captures reaches $30,000,000 in value; one-half of this goes to Government and the other is divided among officers and seamen. In the proportions already published. The average per man is $120, whereas in the matter of bounties on soldiers, the average has been nearly $100 per man, and about $700,000,000 have been expended in bounties alone.

FIFTH UNITED STATES CAVALRY.

Four Companies of the 5th United States Cavalry have arrived in Washington. They will stay here long enough to thoroughly drill, after which they will proceed to the States of North and South Carolina for duty.

SEMMES.

The pirate Semmes has had his quarters changed from the Navy-Yard to the Marine Barracks, to insure greater safety. He will be immediately put upon his trial, and doubtless convicted, although his ultimate pardon is said to be already assured.

NEW YORK COLLECTORSHIP.

There has been a significant influx of prominent New York politicians here within the past two days. Rumor hath it that they are burdened with Collectorship salaries.

PERU AND OUR MONITORS.

This morning the Peruvian Minister and an officer of the Peruvian Navy visited the splendid Monitor, Miantonomah, now at the Yard for the purpose of inspecting it. The Peruvian Government has already one double-turreted monitor, and her neighbor, Chili, has two building in England; and the Minister from Peru is anxious to purchase one of our Monitors for his Government.

INTERNAL REVENUE.

Receipts at the Internal Revenue Bureau to-day were reported to slightly exceed $700,000.

THE CABINET.

The Cabinet meeting to-day was of short duration. The latest positively asserted Cabinet change is that Secretary Welles is to be superseded by Senator Dixon.

LAND-OFFICE STATISTICS.

Under the swamp land grant of 1850, swamp selections in the former Jackson, now Irwin, Land District, covering 41,737 acres, has been granted to the State of Missouri, for which a patent from the United States has just been prepared, with a view to transmission to the Governor of that State.

To the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Jan. 5, 1866.

OUR VOLUNTEERS.

The Secretary of War, in compliance with a resolution of the House of Representatives, has furnished a statement of the number of volunteers called for by the President at various periods. The first call was for 75,000; the second, in July, 1864, for 200,000, and the third, in December, for 300,000—namely:

States.	Aggregate.	Aggregate reduced to 3 years standard.
Maine	15,473	50,292
New-Hampshire	34,465	30,827
Vermont	35,256	29,092
Massachusetts	131,785	123,444
Rhode Island	17,871	17,871
Connecticut	52,220	50,514
New-York	455,568	380,980
New-Jersey	79,511	55,125
Pennsylvania	366,530	297,536
Delaware	19,421	19,421
Maryland	49,731	49,731
Virginia	60,903	27,653
District of Columbia	16,372	11,596
Ohio	317,123	116,762
Illinois	195,217	123,257
Indiana	252,217	212,694
Michigan	90,119	80,805
Wisconsin	96,118	78,965
Minnesota	25,644	19,775
Iowa	108,712	68,192
Kentucky	78,540	70,316
Kansas	50,067	18,654
Total	2,633,062	2,122,041

This information was called for to facilitate the business of the Special Committee on the War Debt of the Loyal States, to whom it has been referred.

DEATH OF CHIEF CLERK HICKEY.

Gen. William Hickey, Chief Clerk of the Senate, died at his residence, near Washington, this morning, aged 69 years, having been in delicate health for the past twelve months. He was one of the oldest and most experienced members of the Senate, and had been for 43 years in the service of the Senate. His experience of Congressional life would aid in the knowledge of parliamentary procedure and law, and his sagacity in the management of the Senate. His work on the Constitution is a standard authority, and is a monument of his patience, skill and impartiality. The clerks of the Senate this afternoon held a meeting, and were addressed by Colonel Torrey, the Secretary of the Senate. His work in many respects a remarkable man. Of him it can be said, what cannot be said of very many who have reached old age, that his career was as blameless as his death was honored. He had known many of the distinguished statesmen of American history, and had witnessed many triumphs and unfortunates scenes, and at no time in his long life had he experienced the slightest suspicion of his fair fame. Major William McDonald, Acting Chief Clerk of the Senate, paid a deserved tribute to the memory of his old friend and official associate. He remarked, as a proof of Gen. Hickey's own sterling integrity, that it was only necessary to refer to the fact that while various political organizations were formed and dissolved, they still found him in his position. Appropriate resolutions of respect were passed, and a committee was appointed to visit the relatives of the deceased, and offer their services and condolence.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Gov. Worth of North Carolina telegraphed to the President on Tuesday that representations had been made through the new powers that the latter had ordered the Sheriff of North Carolina to abstain from executing some of the ordinances of the Convention for raising revenue, and asking for a copy of the order. The subject, but the President telegraphed him that no reference to the sheriff had been made.

Weather Reports.

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—The thermometer is from 7 to 10 degrees above zero; the wind north-west, and fresh. The change of temperature since last evening 50 degrees, Jan. 5.—The thermometer at 7:30 this morning was 8 degrees below zero. Wind south.

THE IRISH BRIGADE.—An adjourned meeting of the officers of the Irish Brigade will be held at the Whitney House, Broadway, this evening, to make arrangements to attend the funeral of the late Major S. S. Morency.

MEXICO.

Favorable Position of the Republicans in the Eastern States—Their Headquarters Twenty-two Leagues from Vera Cruz.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Jan. 5, 1866.
Information has been received here that the headquarters of the Liberal or National forces of Mexico are twenty-two leagues from Vera Cruz. In the Eastern States the Imperialists only occupy the military road from Vera Cruz to Mexico and to the city of Oaxaca.

An American Appointed a Mexican General—He is Recruiting for the Liberals in Texas—Gen. Wallace and Logan Said to be Connected with the Movement—Affairs in Matamoros—An American Vessel Seized by the Imperialists—American Stories Regarding Gen. Crawford.

NEW-ORLEANS, Friday, Jan. 5, 1866.
The Times' Brownsville correspondent, under date of Dec. 20, has the following:
Gen. K. Clay Crawford has arrived at Brownsville with an appointment as General in the Mexican Republican army, and authority to recruit an American division for the Republican service under his command. Gen. Crawford has established a recruiting office in Brownsville and other places in Texas, and enlistments were already progressing rapidly.
It is reported that Gen. Lee, Wallace and John A. Logan are connected with the movement, and are expected to carry out a large sum of money to assist in defraying the expenses.
The Imperialists in Matamoros under Gen. Mejia have commenced barricading the streets, fearing an attack from Gen. Crawford's American division at any time.
It is said that Gen. Crawford will join Escobedo, and move on Monterrey, establishing their base at that point.
A schooner laden with arms and ammunition, consigned to a purveyor at the headquarters of the Twenty-fifth Corps, went ashore at Bagdad and was seized by the Imperialists.
Gen. Mejia has levied a loan of $100,000 on the merchants of Matamoros.
The military railroad from Brownsville to Brazos is only four hours.
Later news says American families are leaving Matamoros and coming to the American side of the river, fearing an attack.
The Liberal forces, numbering about 2,300, are scattered along the river.
Additional accounts from Brownsville state that Gen. Crawford has sent his Chief of Staff, Col. A. F. Reed, to rapidly raising recruits in Brownsville, enlisting United States soldiers still in the service of the United States, and promising them discharge as soon as the necessary papers can be made out.
There has been no interference with this by our authorities, as yet. Recruiting offices were being opened in other parts of Texas.
One of the recruiting officers informed the correspondent of the Times that a force consisting of some 1,000 men, and one was raising on the Rio Grande, and that a camp was being established below Brownsville with sufficient supplies.
It was reported that Generals Logan and Lee Wallace were connected with the expedition with aims on Monterrey.
General Mejia was aware of Gen. Crawford's movements.

FROM RICHMOND.

Emancipation Day and How it was Celebrated—Prayers, Addresses and Music—New-Year's Customs—Billiards—Colored Men's Celebration at Petersburg—Six Thousand Persons in Procession on a Rainy Day—Action of a pro-Slavery Military Officer—Gen. Gibbons Interferes in a Proper Manner—The Plotters of Southampton and Other Counties—Secession Cockades.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 1, 1866.
To-day marks a new era in the history of our country. Three years since the parting blow to the chains of human slavery was dealt by Abraham Lincoln. He lived long enough to see his great work successfully accomplished, and the broken fetters lay at his feet, when God in a mysterious way called him to his home—to a seat among earth's greatest and noblest men.
Emancipation Day henceforth becomes one of our national occasions for joy and thanksgiving, and none more heartily enter into its spirit than these dusky people of the South, to whom more especially it relates. Twelve months ago to-day, and only at the North, a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a Union entered in the day, and in no part of our common country could an emancipated race give better evidence of their gratitude than in this very city. Unfortunately, the day has been a most unfavorable one, a dense fog, rain, mud and fog. Yet, however, our streets have been thronged with a jubilant people wending their way to the old African church, where were to be inaugurated the appropriate services of the day.
By 10 o'clock the street surrounding the building, rendered historical as the place where Alexander H. Stephens and Jeff. Davis last addressed the citizens of Richmond upon the peace mission and its results, bolstered up with supporters the fast-fading life of the Union, and a